

Introducing: Minimalist luxury living in Bali

By latteluxurynews on July 26, 2016

Built in gleaming local stone and finished with honey-hued wood, The Iman Villa creates a stylish minimalist living, infused with tropical warmth, plenty of open spaces and uninterrupted views from every room.

With its up-to-date cutting edge design and sleek modern features (notice the stairway design), The Iman Villa presents a very modern face surrounded by Bali's lush rice paddies and emerald palm groves. The manicured lawns, neatly terraced to echo the neighbouring rice fields, also make it a great venue for weddings, parties or office outings.

Groups will enjoy the privacy provided by the accommodation spread between two buildings: a main two-storey house containing three bedrooms and a guest kitchen, plus a two-bedroom guesthouse with a cosy living and dining area and small kitchen.

Observe the farmers working in the fields in early mornings and enjoy panoramic sunsets from the expansive rooftop terrace, thoughtfully fitted with a sunken jacuzzi in the evenings. Attentive butlers will be happy to serve cocktails and canapés, while dining is delightful thanks to a talented chef with a background in fine dining. Fabulous staff are around the clock to serve you.

The fabulous swimming pool sticks out dramatically above the terraced lawns, which is a huge living pavilion with a comfortable sunken lounge and a dining table for 12. The villa is equipped with Apple TV, large plasma screens and WiFi throughout – perfect for those who want to stay connected.

Located on the fringes of the peaceful village of Pererenan, in Bali's popular Canggu district, The Iman Villa is ideal for those in search of a quiet retreat. Surf beaches and Canggu's ever-growing selection of laid-back cafés and beach bars are also within easy reach.

A minimalist luxury living does not get better than this.
