An Unforgettable Destination Villa

BALI
Villa Semarapura

By the pool Perfectly crystal clear water and garden view.

When the owners of Villa Semarapura found this large piece of land overlooking the ocean in southwest Bali, they set about building the very best quality villa you could imagine to match the outstanding surroundings. Everything from the artwork and architecture, the staff and the service, the rest and relaxation, the flair, form and facilities this villa offers are simply stunning and worth writing home about to everyone you know.

The chill out zone Classic Indonesian furnishings are found throughout.

So, just imagine what it's like to actually stay inside and enjoy the extraordinary holiday experience that such a villa can bring. Let's start with the location, for without a doubt it is the number one factor of many close runners-up to the villa's appeal. Set right upon the ocean in the seaside village of Cemagi, the coast here as breathtaking and as dramatic as it is serene, with its black sand beach, surging seas and blue horizon. Accordingly, the villa has been designed so that it lets the sea be the focal point from nearly every single space within.

The villa comprises a series of pavilions housing lots of public spaces and five bedrooms set upon half a hectare of manicured gardens and masses of lawns all dotted with tall swaying coconut palms and water features. Up front and centre is the two-storey main living pavilion which sits directly behind the pool and has a large open-sided living room up on the first floor, and a bar and lounge and large air-conditioned media room on the ground floor. Meals are taken in the adjacent formal dining room, which is surrounded by glass walls and raised above the garden.

Colour & comfort Simplicity and elegance that lulls you to sleep.

Sleeping is treated as a pleasure here and it takes place in four bedroom pavilions, each one fabulously furnished with en-suite bathrooms and ocean views and all as private as the next. There is the separate master suite, large and opulent, two guests suites to the rear sitting at right angles around a lotus pond, and two more rooms in a double-storey pavilion with an internal staircase, purpose built for families who want to stay close.

Taking it all in So much beauty and space all in one glorious villa.

Right out front, the large swimming pool with twin shallow sections for kids takes pride of place beside a lush green lawn, which sprawls around the front of a wide timber deck that's littered with sun loungers and encircled by tranquil reflection pools. A bar standing at one end of the swimming pool heightens the sociability, whilst in-built Bose speakers provide entertainment from morning until night. Two bale bengong relaxation pavilions offer gentle respite from other guests and a place to chill out and take in to world around you.

Taking it easy The large, cool and well outfitted TV lounge.

Who's running all this you may ask? Well, a full team of 17 staff are on hand and they run things like a well-oiled ship. While there are no restaurants in the immediate vicinity, that just isn't a problem because there's not much the villa's professional chef can't cook, and together with his team of service staff they makes meal times a thing of beauty. You could be fooled into thinking that you were staying in a five-star hotel judging by how effortlessly everything happens around you, often without you knowing it. This is certainly one of the main reasons why the villa is such a popular wedding venue – that and the fact that it's such a stunning villa in a breathtaking location.

Cemagi Village The Balinese village lifestyle is just outside the door.

Villa Semarapura is one of Bali's premier destination villas, one that you want to arrive at and never leave, nor have any reason to do so. Should you wish to take in the sights, there is a car and driver on hand to whizz you around. It's only 9km from one of the world's best golf courses to the north, 15km from Seminyak to the south if you fancy dinner at one of Bali's fantastic restaurants, want to go dancing at one of Bali's choice night time party venues, or to simply laze away the hours at one of the island's top beach clubs. It's all there for the asking.
